“Saudades de Rock”, the great new album from Extreme, marks the reunion of the Boston band after a break of 13 years.

Extreme have always been most at home in their live concerts, and the “Take Us Alive” 2008 World Tour most certainly didn’t disappoint their fans. Nuno Bettencourt and Gary Cherone’s band were in brilliant form, playing all the tracks from their new album and the most famous hits from their previous ones, including “More than words” and “Hole hearted”.

The “Take Us Alive” tour started out in Oklahoma on 11 July, and finished last 15 December with a triumphal date at the Tennis Indoor Senayan in Jakarta (promoter: Original Production).

The concert’s light rig included several D.T.S. moving heads. Eight XR700 WASH’s provided backlighting at ground level, and another six projectors (two XM1200 SPOT’s, two XR9 SPOT’s and two XR8 SPOT’s) were installed on trusses above the stage.

The lighting design created some very dynamic scenes, with interesting backlit effects often combined with beams from the suspended projectors, and featuring particularly vibrant and saturated colours, a perfect match for Extreme’s meaty sound.
